

README Exercise #1

Write a README for the portfolio project you created from SD100 Introduction to Computer Programming.

Your README should be written using Markdown.

Your README should include 1 image of your portfolio.

It should include the following sections:

- Project Name
- Description
- Usage
- Author

This may be a little challenging given the limited scope of the project, but try to expand on each of these sections. Think about an employer who might be coming to the site for the first time and who isn't sure what to look at on your portfolio.
